
This visualization compares the computational performance and discriminative power of both algorithms. The HAPD algorithm shows better performance for complex inputs, while both perfectly detect cubic numbers.